

Requirements for Non-Residential Applications Submitted to the Midland-Odessa and Pecos Divisions

(Resides outside the boundaries of the Midland-Odessa Division or Pecos Division)

Admission to practice in the Western District of Texas is covered in Local Court Rule AT-1, Admission of Attorneys. Please read these requirements below carefully before preparing your application packet. Please note that these requirements apply to applications sent to the Midland-Odessa or Pecos Divisions only. Other divisions may have different requirements. Resident applicants (those residing in the Western District of Texas) must apply to the specific divisional office where their firm is located, per Local Court Rule AT-1(b)(3). However, once you are admitted into a division, you are able to practice in all seven divisional offices.

The Application and Admissions Process

Only completed applications will be submitted to the admissions committee. The review and approval process may take up to 45-60 days unless the Committee requires additional information from the applicant. Items needed for a complete application (items that are in blue shades underlined have hyperlinks):
